Northstar Field Manual: Project Aurora

The Kestrel solar array stores its power in sodium-ion batteries.

In winter, inspect the array on the first clear day after a snowstorm.

If the north sensor reports a temperature below minus twenty degrees, replace the north sensor and record its serial number in the maintenance log.

The west gate key is kept in the blue cabinet in the operations room.